I am the math team coach for the 7th and 8th grade teams here at the Altamont School. I ordered your book, Creative Problem Solving, at the beginning of the school year and have been referring to it constantly in teaching my math teams. I have a Smart-Board in my classroom and would like to be able to use some of the problems, diagrams, and solutions in my PowerPoint presentations.

The students who truly are interested in STEM will seek an extracurricular activity to get more involved and learn more about STEM. Most educators cannot get every one of their students interested in what they are teaching, but in an extracurricular activity, you will have the students who not only like what you teach, but they are eager to learn.

Many gifted children and teens have a natural aptitude in math, but many parents and teachers of high ability math learners find that it can be a challenge to keep these children and teens engaged and excited about math. Gifted math students who are often light years ahead of the standard curriculum can find themselves bored and increasingly disinterested in math as the years tick by.
