It is virtually impossible for man in what the Apostle Paul portrayed as his organic "natural" condition of mind (see What Difference Does It Make), to comprehend the enigma of a paradoxical reality. Yet, he finds himself immersed in a paradoxical world -- often eating the forbidden fruit of the Tree of Duality by embracing one paradoxical truth, while rejecting its opposite that is equally true.

Abiogenesis, or informally the origin of life, is the natural process by which life has arisen from non-living matter, such as simple organic compounds. While the details of this process are still unknown, the prevailing scientific hypothesis is that the transition from non-living to living entities was not a single event, but a gradual process of increasing complexity that involved molecular ...

Here is a huge problem for origin-of-life scenarios: when amino acids are joined together, for example, a water molecule is released. This means that in the presence of water, the reaction is pushed in the wrong direction, backwards; that is, proteins will fall apart, not build, unless the water is actively removed.
