Substitutability of factors and commodities. Trade in goods and services can to some extent be considered a substitute for factor movements. In the absence of trade barriers, even when factors are not mobile, there is a tendency toward factor price equalization. In the absence of barriers to factor mobility, commodity prices will move toward equalization, even if commodities may not freely move.

The economic impact of undocumented immigrants in the United States is challenging to measure, and politically contentious. The scarcity of reliable statistics leaves room for many methods of study, leading to diverse conclusions. One possibility is that foreign workers entering the country illegally can lower wages, decreasing overall costs of production.

The results were too close to predict in the days before the election. While the leave vote had increased in the Financial Times polls in the weeks prior to the vote, it seemed that the remain-side was strengthening in the few days before the referendum. 3 Thus the leave side had 50.6% in the polls taken on 17 June but had weakened to 48.3% on the day before the referendum.
